President

Pat Gibson is President of Gibson Transportation Consulting, Inc. He has been involved in the transportation and parking planning for mixed-use development on both a local and national basis. He co-authored both editions of ULI's Shared Parking report and has successfully applied that methodology to projects throughout the western United States. Locally he has directed the transportation studies for the NBC Universal Vision Plan, Wilshire Grand, and STAPLES Center projects in Los Angeles; The Disneyland Resort in Anaheim, The Ballpark District and Westfield Horton Plaza in San Diego; and downtown development projects in San Jose, Pasadena, Long Beach, Pomona, Fullerton, and Brea.

He has participated in Urban Land Institute Technical Advisory Panels for Downtown Culver City, the LAX Century Boulevard Gateway Project, the Los Angeles Convention Center Alternate Master Plan, and the Long Beach Downtown/Waterfront Connection Plan.

Pat teaches the Transportation Engineering curriculum in the Civil and Environmental Engineering Department at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) and the Transportation Planning classes in the Architecture Department at East Los Angeles College.
